Farm machinery and practical skills through farmer cooperation

Machinery Ring Rwanda brings farmers together to access machinery services, learn practical farming skills and organise work through local farmer groups. We help farmers discuss what they need and arrange suitable support without every household having to own every machine.

Buttons: Request a service | Ask about membership

How we support farmers

- Machinery services — Enquire about maize and bean planting, maize shelling and rice threshing. Equipment, operators, location and timing are checked before work is confirmed.
- Practical learning — Training and demonstrations cover machinery use, soil health, crop management, post-harvest handling and farm-business skills.
- Local farmer organisation — Local Rings help members communicate, plan activities and coordinate service requests.

Tell us what you need

Share your location, crop, required service and preferred timing. Our team will discuss availability, price and the next steps with you.

3 About Us

English

Farmers working together

Machinery Ring Rwanda supports cooperation among farmers so they can access machinery services, practical knowledge and help with organising agricultural activities. Our established local network is in Gashora Sector, Bugesera District.

A Machinery Ring is a local farmer group that brings service requests and resources together. The group helps coordinate access to machinery and suitable service providers, while members build skills through training and demonstrations.

Our local Rings

Biryogo • Kabuye • Kagomasi • Mwendo • Nyabagendwa

Local leaders and trained farmer facilitators help share information, organise activities and bring farmers’ requests to the team.

What guides our work

We start with farmers’ practical needs. We combine machinery access with learning and local coordination, and support women’s participation in farmer-group activities and leadership.

Work with us

We welcome discussions with organisations and service providers working on agricultural machinery, farmer training, soil health, post-harvest handling and local service development. Tell us what you would like to work on and where.

4 Services in English

Tell us what you need. We check the equipment, operator, location and timing before confirming a service and its price.

Maize and bean planting

Planting support uses suitable available equipment, including hand-held planters. Tell us the crop, field size, location and preferred planting period. Seed, fertiliser and field-preparation arrangements are agreed before the work.

Maize shelling

Shelling separates maize grain from the cob. Share the approximate quantity, location and preferred timing. The team will discuss crop readiness, equipment access, labour arrangements and the applicable charge.

Rice threshing

Threshing separates rice grain from the harvested plant. Tell us the approximate quantity and where the work is needed. Machine suitability, operator availability and crop readiness are checked before confirmation. Threshing is different from rice milling.

Training and agricultural advice

Practical sessions support machinery use, crop establishment, soil health, safe spraying practices, post-harvest handling, record keeping and farm-business planning. Contact us about the topic, group size and location so we can discuss suitable support.

Machinery operation and maintenance training

Learn about equipment operation, routine checks, cleaning and preventive maintenance. Training is arranged around the equipment and participants’ needs. Contact us separately about repair needs so we can discuss what support is possible.

Irrigation and land preparation enquiries

Contact us to discuss irrigation or land-preparation needs. We assess the site and available capacity before advising what can be arranged. An enquiry does not guarantee equipment availability or a service date.

How a request becomes a booking

- Tell us the service, location, crop, quantity or area, and preferred timing.

- We check capacity and discuss the scope, price and responsibilities with you.
- Work is booked only after the service, timing and price are confirmed.

Prices and preparation

Ask for a quotation. Before you agree, we will explain the charging unit, any member or non-member rate, transport costs and input or labour responsibilities. Please tell us about access difficulties or other conditions that may affect the work.

6 Membership

English

Join a local Machinery Ring

Would you like to work with other farmers and learn about machinery services in your area? Contact our team to discuss joining a local Ring.

Our established local Rings are Biryogo, Kabuye, Kagomasi, Mwendo and Nyabagendwa. If you are unsure which Ring covers your area, tell us where you farm and we will help you identify the right contact.

What membership can offer

Membership provides a route to local coordination, information about machinery services and opportunities for practical learning. The team will explain the conditions, any fees and the services currently available before you decide to join.

How to enquire

- Send your name, telephone number and farming location.
- Tell us which Ring you are interested in, if you know it.
- Discuss eligibility, responsibilities and applicable fees with the team or local representative.

Submitting an enquiry does not automatically enrol you. Service availability and any member rates are confirmed separately.

Non-members may also enquire about services. Contact us to discuss availability and the terms that apply.

7 Our Work

English

Learning and service coordination in the field

Our work brings together practical training, machinery services and local farmer organisation. Demonstrations and field activities help farmers examine equipment and practices under local conditions. Farmer facilitators and local leaders help share learning and coordinate requests.

Women’s participation

Activities include savings-group support, financial literacy, leadership and digital-skills learning. These help women take part in the organisational and business activities of their groups.

What farmers tell us

A September 2026 assessment brought together responses from 148 people across five local Rings: 125 farmers, eight trainers of trainers and 15 Board members. The report describes farmers applying practices covered in training and reporting improvements in planning and farming activities. It also identifies machinery reliability, finance and market access as areas needing further work.

These findings are based on questionnaire responses. They do not establish how much income increased or prove that every reported change was caused by MR support.

What we are working to strengthen

Our priorities include reliable machinery services, practical training, clearer local records and coordination, and better evidence of results at farm level.

EN date label: September 2026 assessment

EN story: Machinery Ring Rwanda’s September assessment collected responses from 148 farmers, trainers of trainers and Board members across Biryogo, Kabuye, Kagomasi, Mwendo and Nyabagendwa. The report describes practical learning being used in farming and highlights the role of local coordination. Respondents also raised concerns about machinery availability and breakdowns, costs, finance and markets. The findings point to the need for more reliable services and stronger records to verify results over time. Reported experiences should not be read as a measured income-growth rate.
